| Organization:         | CAN-DO.org  |
| Date Founded:         | September 2004  |
| Description:          | CAN-DO (Compassion into Action Network – Direct Outcome Organization) provides grassroots relief in emergency situations. Video, photographs and the CAN-DO website offer documentation of the organization's efforts every step of the way. CAN-DO does not get involved in the bureaucracy and greed that only cripples progress and interferes with the wellbeing of those whose lives are impacted by disaster. The organization works with all groups regardless of religious affiliation. CAN-DO's overall mission is to provide straight forward relief with 100% accountability and zero red tape.   |
| Partner Network:      | In addition to CAN-DO's "direct-impact" grassroots relief, the organization also offers a Virtual Volunteer Program, which allows individuals and businesses to choose a project that's important to them and donate, track progress online. It is the first interactive website that enables individuals, donors, corporations and organizations to participate virtually in live humanitarian projects and critical disaster zones. To become part of the CAN-DO Network your group or organization must be ethical, transparent and accountable. To get started, contact us via email or post your projects on CAN-DO's Virtual Volunteer site for review, consideration. |
| Donors/Sponsors:      | CAN-DO invites monetary donations from individuals, businesses and other organizations. Donations can be made on the CAN-DO and Virtual Volunteer websites. Donors can specify to which project they would like to donate. CAN-DO also invites goods and services from corporate sponsors but only those that meet the specific needs of the people and communities we are trying to help. We are looking to partner with other corporate sponsors that can be on standby for relief projects. A list of projects and supporters is on the CAN-DO website.   |
